6. YOUR RIGHTS IN RELATION TO YOUR PERSONAL DATA

6.1. Your rights

Under applicable law, you have different rights in relation to the processing of your personal data depending on the specific situation:

a. Right of access to your personal data

You have the right to request verification of whether we are processing your personal data and, if so, to obtain a copy of that data.

b. Right to rectification of your personal data

If your personal data we process is inaccurate, you have the right to request its correction.

c. Right to erasure of your personal data

You may request the deletion of some or all of your personal data.

d. Right to object to the processing of your personal data

You have the right to object to the processing of your personal data. This means that you have the right to request that we stop processing your personal data until we can demonstrate that there are compelling reasons for processing it which override your interests, rights and freedoms or where necessary for the establishment, exercise or defence of legal claims. If we object to the processing of personal data for direct marketing purposes, we will immediately stop processing your personal data for these purposes.

e. The right to limit the processing of your personal data

You have the right to request the restriction of the processing of your personal data, in particular in cases where you doubt the accuracy, lawfulness or necessity of the processing. In such situations, we will only process your personal data for the establishment, exercise or defence of legal claims, or for the protection of another natural or legal person, or in accordance with another limited reason set out in applicable law.

f. Right to data portability

You have the right to request a copy of the personal data you have provided, including in a format that is interoperable, or, if appropriate and technically feasible, you may request that it be transferred directly to another data controller.

6.2. Withdrawal of consent

If consent is the legal basis for the processing of your personal data, you may withdraw this consent at any time without giving any reason. Withdrawal of consent does not affect the lawfulness of the processing that took place before the withdrawal.

6.3. Unsubscribe from marketing communications

If you do not wish to receive marketing communications, you can request to stop receiving them:

- a. by sending an email to the contact details provided; or
- b. directly by changing the user account settings, if any; or
- c. by clicking on the unsubscribe link in our communications.

6.4. Address for exercising your rights

If you wish to exercise your rights, you can contact the following address:

6.5. Submission of an application

To exercise your rights effectively, it is important to state in your application:

- a. what personal data is involved; and
- b. which rights you want to exercise.

In order to comply with the protection of third party rights, verification of your identity may be required, including the provision of identifying information such as loyalty card number or date of birth and, if necessary, proof of identity.

We will respond to your request within 1 month of receiving it. If necessary, we may extend the deadline by 2 months depending on the difficulty of processing the request and the current number of requests. We will inform you of any extension within 1 month of receiving your request at our address.

6.6. Filing a complaint

If you believe that the processing of your personal data violates applicable data protection laws, you have the right to lodge a complaint with the competent data protection authority in the country of your habitual residence, place of work or place of alleged violation. In the Czech Republic, to the Office for Personal Data Protection, at Pplk. Sochora 27, Postal Code: 170 00, Prague 7, ID No.: 708 37 627.

7. CHANGES AND UPDATES TO THIS PERSONAL DATA PROCESSING POLICY

This Privacy Policy may be revised or updated periodically. Any changes to this policy will become effective when the updated version is posted online.

In the event that such a change is required by applicable law to be notified to you or to obtain your consent to any new processing set out in the updated version of this policy, you will be notified or asked to consent to the new use of your personal data.
